CARTHAGE COUPLE PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Howard Harriss and Mrs. Marie Codney Arrested on Serious Charge and Arraigned in Court

CARTHAGE PEOPLE COMPLAIN

Jury Hears Case of Thomas J. Marshall Against Capp and D. M. Miller in Court

Howard Harriss and Mrs. Marie Codney of Carthage were arrested Thursday by Sheriff Hunt on a warrant filed in the circuit court, charging them with a serious offense, and when arraigned before Judge Sparks, each entered a plea of not guilty.

Mrs. Codney gave bond in the sum of $100, but Harriss was in jail today upon default of the necessary bond. A complaint was registered this week by Carthage people against the conduct of the people, which resulted in the charges being preferred.

Both were arrested at the same house in Carthage yesterday, according to the sheriff. It is said, however, that the mother of the woman resides in the house, and runs a lodging and boarding house.

In the circuit court today the attention of the court was taken up with a jury case in which Thomas J. Marshall is plaintiff and Capp Miller and D. M. Miller are defendants.

A special venire of ten were on hand, and a jury for the case was obtained about ten o'clock. The twelve selected to try the case are Joel Carson, Elsworth Kiser, Ollie Offutt, A. L. Canady, Cliff Logan, Frank Megee, Robert Mansfield, John J. Frazier, Job Stevens, Ben F. Reeves, Morrison Beaver and Charles French.

The suit which is a damage suit for an alleged breach of contract, demands $2,000 judgment, and involved a sale of growing timber near Metamora. The plaintiff alleges that the defendants did not fulfill their part of the contract in removing the timber, and that because of their neglect, he sustained the financial loss.

The suit will go over until Sunday and will probably not reach the jury until Saturday afternoon.

Thomas Rice was arraigned late Thursday on one of the grand jury indictments, charging him with public intoxication, to which he entered a plea of guilty, and paid a fine of $5 and costs.

A charge against Donald Newman for wife desertion has been dismissed by the court, as the parties have reconciled their domestic troubles.

FIVE DIE IN CHICAGO FROM EFFECTS OF HEAT

Cooling Western Breeze Brings Relief Today, Following Record of 83 Above on Thursday.

HOTTEST OF YEAR IN N. Y.

Chicago, June 9.—A cooling western breeze brought relief to sweltering Chicago today.

Five persons died from the effects of the heat yesterday, the hottest day of the year. The temperature was 88. Ten were bitten by mad dogs and there were a score of prostrations.

New York, June 9.—Although the day started in New York with the sun hiding behind clouds, the temperature threatened to exceed yesterday's, the hottest of the year, 87. Several prostrations were reported, one man running amuck and attacking several women and children until police subdued him.

St. Paul, Minn., June 9.—While the east sweltered, vacation land is cool today. Temperatures as low as 46 on the Canadian border, running up a maximum of 71 here yesterday were recorded. It was partly cloudy with "probable showers" predicted.

GUARDSMAN GOES TO JAIL

Henry Lafarra Arrested For Not Reporting For Drill Tuesday

Henry Lafarra is in jail for failure to report for drill at the National Guard armory on Tuesday night, and he will be kept in jail until released by Captain Will B. Brann of Company C. Lafarra is the second member of the guard who has been given a jail term for failing to report without having any good reason. The law governs the members the same as in the army, and all members of Company C are supposed to report for their weekly practice each Tuesday.

Captain Brann stated today that from now on this rule would be enforced, and he issued a warning to the members, so that all of them would be prepared.

FRIES MEMORIAL DEDICATION SUNDAY

Large Monument to Brookville Flood Victims Will be Dedicated at Services

FUND RAISED IN RUSHVILLE

The Fries Memorial dedication will take place Sunday afternoon at 1:30 at Brookville when an appropriate ceremony will be carried out, on the spot where fourteen people lost their lives during the flood of March 25, 1913, which swept this part of the state, and which rendered hundreds of Brookville people destitute.

Six people by the name of Fries were drowned on a farm near Brookville, and as a memorial to them, a large monument has been erected, and a bronze tablet inscribed with the names of the 14 flood victims, who lost their lives during the flood.

The Kiwanis club of Brookville has charge of the program and the principal address will be delivered by Judge Raymond Springer of Connersville, George M. Fries, one of the survivors and a relative of the six victims, will deliver an address of appreciation.

It will be recalled here that during the flood of that year, Rush county people contributed generously to their relief, and approximately $2,500 was raised here, together with a large quantity of clothing and food.

FILES MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL OF CASE

Mrs. Clara Carl, Convicted of Second Degree Murder Last Saturday, Seeks Another Hearing

ARGUMENT SET FOR MONDAY

Mrs. Clara Carl of Hancock county, formerly of this city, through her attorneys, filed a motion for a new trial late Thursday of the murder case in which she was convicted last Saturday at Shelbyville. The motion was filed in the Shelby circuit court where a jury found her guilty of second degree, which carries a penalty of life imprisonment. Judge Alonzo Blair set next Monday as the time for hearing the arguments on the motion.

The action of the defense attorneys was anticipated and had been announced following the verdict of the jury which found Mrs. Carl guilty of murdering Frank Carl, her second husband, by administering poison. The motion is very lengthy and sets out important points of the defense that would cause the court to grant the plea for a new trial.

INTEREST DUE THE COUNTY ALL PAID

Unusual Condition Exists Regarding Congressional and Common School Interest Funds

NET GAIN IN READJUSTMENT

Rush County Adds $425.53 in the Transaction—Court Fines go to Common School Fund

The report on the congressional township interest fund and common school interest fund has been completed at the county auditor's office and will be forwarded to the state auditor.

The interesting thing about the report is that there is not a cent of interest on loans from the fund, which is delinquent. This is unusual because it is seldom the case that a county auditor has the interest all collected up to date. In past years the report on June first has shown as much as $1,300 interest delinquent.

It is doubtful if there is another county in the state where the congressional and common school interest funds are kept in as good condition as they are by the Rush county auditor, Phil Wilk. It is a very easy matter to permit the interest to go delinquent, but Mr. Wilk made an effort to collect all of the delinquencies soon after he assumed the duties of the office, and has endeavored to keep the record clear ever since.

The congressional township interest fund shows a balance of $23,880.57 and the common school fund a balance of $99,738.07. A revenue of approximately $6,000 is derived each year from loaning the money in these funds at six percent interest. This money goes to the state twice a year as a part of the semi-annual distribution and is in turn distributed to the counties on a per capita basis. The counties then distribute it among the townships and city school corporations on the same basis.

The money is loaned on real estate only with first mortgage on the property as security. Although approximately half of the fund is now loaned on city real estate, and the other half on farm land, the auditor much prefers to have the loans on farms because there is little chance of loss on land.

When the owner of city property borrows money from this fund, he is expected to file his insurance policy on the house with the auditor to protect the county in case of fire. The risk for the county is greater on this kind of a loan because in case of fire and a subsequent loss, the county has to stand it. The amount of a loan is determined by a board of appraisers.

The amount in the congressional township interest fund had a balance of $23,455.04 June 1, 1921 and during the year $1,454 was received from other counties in a readjustment, making a total of $24,909.04. But the county had to pay out $1,028.47 in the readjustment, leaving a net balance June 1 of this year amounting to $23,880.57. Rush county's fund gained $425.53 in the readjustment this year.

Rush county received $211.23 from Shelby county, $80.55 from Hancock, $135.91 from Decatur, $390.72 from Franklin and $635.59 from Fayette. Rush county in turn paid Decatur county $903.82 and Fayette $124.65.

The common school interest fund had a balance of $98,871.06 on June 1, last year and received during the year $606 in fines and forfeitures from the circuit court, $220.01 from the justices of the peace and $41 from the mayor's court. The total in the fund on June 1 this year was $99,738.07.

WAR MATERIALS SOLD BY STATE

STEEL RAILS AND BICYCLES

Secretary of War Says it is Manifestly Improper for Highway Commission to Sell Surplus.

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 9.—Further disclosure of state sales of surplus war materials given by the federal government were made today in survey of the highway commission records and in an interview with Governor McCray.

Twenty thousand dollars worth of steel rails given to the state by the United States were sold at private sales and the governor said enough rails were left to meet the requirements of the state penal farm and the Indiana reformatory.

The practice of selling material unavailable for use by the highway commission at private sales was inaugurated by L. H. Wright, former director of the roads body, McCray said, and it has been continued during the present administration. It was profitable for the state, the governor said.

One consignment of motor trucks received here contained 365 bicycles which the commission disposed of at $15 each. Other states are following the practice, McCray asserted. A similar allotment of bicycles went to Kentucky and were sold at $10 each.

Washington, June 9.—It would be manifestly improper for state highway commissions to sell road building material turned over to them by the federal government, Secretary of War Weeks said today.

When his attention was called to reports that the Indiana commission has sold some material received from the government, Weeks said he would take the matter up with the department of agriculture which has been disposing of the surplus road building material. What action would be taken if the investigation revealed sales by the state agencies was not revealed.

PINNED UNDER MACHINE

Paul B. Williams of Carthage Narrowly Escapes in Injury

Paul B. Williams of Carthage narrowly escaped serious injury Wednesday night, near Raleigh, when the machine which he was operating was struck by another machine, and his machine overturned twice, pinning him underneath. Williams managed, however, to get himself loose from the wreckage, and he only suffered bruises and scratches, escaping from such a serious accident in a miraculous manner.

The person who struck him, never stopped but managed to keep their machine on the road and escaped, leaving Williams in this predicament. The Carthage machine was badly damaged as the result of its upset.

BATTLE MONUMENT DEDICATED TODAY

Tribute to Achievements of Washington's Patriot Army Paid by President Harding

SPEAKS AT PRINCETON, N. J.

Real Monument to Victory Rears Itself in Institutions of Liberty We Have, He Says

By THOMAS L. STOKES

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Princeton, N. J., June 9.—Tribute to the "achievements of Washington's patriot army" was paid here today by President Harding at the dedication of the Princeton battle monument with the enunciation that the real monument to the victory "rears itself in the institutions of liberty and representative government, now big in the vision of all mankind."

The monument commemorates the victory of Washington in the Trenton-Princeton campaign, following his crossing of the Delaware.

"In the presence of such a monument, we can do no better than consecrate ourselves to the cause in which, at this place the soul of genius and the spirit of sacrifice, shone forth with steadfast radiance," the president declared.

Speaking of the significance of the battle, the president said:

"We cannot say that the cause of independence and union would have been lost without it; but we must find ourselves at a loss if we attempt to picture the successful conclusion of the revolution had there been another and indifferent issue from the struggle of those hard, midwinter days."

"On no other battleground, in the presence of no other memorial of heroism, could we find more assuring illumination of our hopes, our anticipations, our confidence."

The president paid high tribute to the little revolutionary band which "trudged through storm and torrent; sent out winged messengers to let all men know that liberty was safe in the keeping of her sons."

After tracing the steps which led to victory, he declared that though "battles have seldom decided the fate of peoples," yet "among the exceptions, among the cases in which a particular conflict has had consequences and reverberations for greater in their potency than could possibly be imagined from a consideration of the numbers engaged, or the immediate results, none stands out more distinctly than does the Trenton-Princeton campaign."

Raritan, N. J., June 9.—President Harding rounded off his brief vacation here at the home of Senator Frelinghuysen with a game of golf today. The presidential party then left by automobile for Princeton to attend the dedication of the battle monument.

The party was expected to reach Princeton just before the dedication exercises at 1 o'clock and will go to the home of Bayard Stockton, president of the battle monument committee which has brought reality to

ANOTHER WAGE CUT IS PLANNED

Railroad Labor Board Expects to Trim Pay of Clerks, Signalmen And Stationary Firemen

WILL AFFECT 350,000 MEN

Shop and Maintenance of Way Employees Draft Appeal to President to Prevent Slash

Chicago, June 9.—Another wage cut affecting 350,000 men is being prepared by the United States railroad labor board, it became known here today.

The reduction, expected to be announced next week, comes in face of strike threats of disgruntled workers from whose pay $110,000,000 has been lopped.

The latest decision of the board will trim the pay of the following crafts:

Clerks, signalmen, marine department employees and stationary firemen.

Amount of the decrease was not divulged.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 9.—Drafting of an appeal to President Harding to prevent $109,000,000 wage cuts recently ordered by the United States railroad labor board being made effective July 1 was begun here today by a special committee representing 1,200,000 shop and maintenance of way employees of the railroads.

"Suspend the wage reductions until we have had an opportunity to prove to you and to the labor board their inequity and the disastrous effect their enforcement will have upon the workers," was to be the gist of the appeal.

A week will be required in its preparation, B. M. Jewell, head of the railroad employees department, American Federation of Labor, said today. Statistical experts of the railroad unions began preparation today of a detailed analysis of the wage and cost of living situation. This will be included in the appeal to Harding. It will show, union officials said, that the wage reductions would put the shop crafts and maintenance of way employees on a "starvation basis."

The decision to appeal to Harding Continued on page five

RUSHVILLE BOY DOING RESEARCH AT PURDUE

J. H. Brecheisen, Who Will be Graduated Next Week, Writing Thesis on High Tension Corona

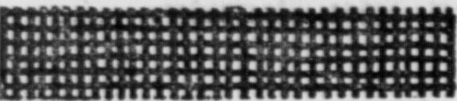

CONDUCTING EXPERIMENTS

Lafayette, Ind., June 9.—J. H. Brecheisen of Rushville is completing his work at Purdue University in writing a thesis on "Corona Loss between Wires at Very High Voltages."

"Corona" is the glowing discharge which emanates from electrical conductors or wires when carrying very high voltages. The formation of corona causes a loss in the energy of the current and as little is known about corona at very high voltages, Mr. Brecheisen's work will have great practical value to the electrical industry.

The experiments will be carried on over the recently completed high tension line of the Purdue Engineering Experiment Station. This line is 1,710 feet long, is carried on four towers each 65 feet high and with 40 foot cross arms so arranged that the wires may be moved in and out and allow the distance between the conductors to be varied. A voltage of 600,000 will be carried over aluminum wires donated by the Aluminum Company of America. Five different sizes of wires will be used in the course of the experiments.

Associated with Mr. Brecheisen in this thesis are M. A. Lorber of Indianapolis and R. J. Rhinehart, of Logansport. All three will be graduated from the school of electrical engineering next week.

INTEREST ON DEBT TO PROVIDE CASH

Senate Finance Committee Reports Adjusting Compensation Measure of Soldier Bonus Bill

NO ADDITIONAL TAXATION

Action of Presenting Bill Makes Possible Consideration of it at Any Time Leaders Desire

Washington, June 9.—Belief that the cash necessary for the soldiers bonus bill will be obtained from interest payments on the allied debt to the United States was expressed by republican members of the senate finance committee Thursday in formally reporting the adjusting compensation measure to the senate.

The report, accompanying the bill, declares that the bonus can be paid during the next three years without additional taxation and that after that the money can be obtained through reduction in governmental expenditures and payments on the foreign debt.

The action of Chairman McCumber in presenting the bill to the senate makes it possible for consideration of it to start at any time Republican leaders desire.

The total and eventual cost of the senate bill was estimated at $3,845,659,481 with the statement that 4,458,199 persons who served in the military or naval forces during the war will receive its benefits.

"The world war foreign debt commission," says the report of McCumber, "has already taken steps to refund the demand obligations of foreign countries into long term securities and it is hoped will be able to secure such obligations in the very near future and that it will be possible for the foreign governments to provide for the immediate payment of interest thereon, that such interest can be used toward defraying the expenses authorized under this act."

"It is believed the United States can count on receiving interest payments from now on, such payments aggregating about $200,000,000 per annum. This would be nearly three times the amount necessary to meet the obligations created by this bill for the first two years."

"It is the opinion of your committee that during the next three years period the payments under this bill can be made without additional taxation. It is hoped that by the end of this three year period the reduction in governmental expenditures plus the payment of interest upon foreign obligations will be sufficient to obviate the imposition of additional taxation."

"If it does become necessary to impose additional taxation it is believed we can better determine the amount of the necessary levy and the methods of distributing such burdens for the future at a later date when the future condition of the treasury will be more accurately established."

Asking support for the measure, the report sharply attacks its opponents.

"The purpose of the bill," the report says, "is to give to the soldier who offered his life with his services as a compensation that will more nearly approach the figure of the laborer who remained at home, secure from danger, and whose compensation increased from 200 to 300 per cent and measured by the amount of labor actually performed, a percentage far beyond figures."

"During the world war we paid our soldiers $30 per month or $1 per day."

"A fair estimate of the cost would be about $2 per day. We might therefore say the private soldier received a compensation for his services equivalent to $3 per day which was very much less than received by the lowest paid laborer."

Briefly the McCumber bill provides an option of five plans for adjusted compensation.

1—Adjusted service pay, limited to veterans whose service credit is not more than $50

2—Adjusted service certificate, permitting the veterans to receive a paid up insurance policy payable at the end of twenty years and allowing $1.25 a day for domestic service and $1.75 for foreign. The bill further provides banks may loan on this certificate up to 50 per cent of full value.

3—Vocational training aid, at the expense of the government to an amount equal to his adjusted service plus forty per cent at the rate of $1.75 per day.

4—Farm or home aid, enabling veterans to receive from govern-

THE NATIONAL TRADE-MARK

OLD silversmiths, in order to help people tell pure silver from cheaper imitations, marked the real thing "sterling."

In a like manner, manufacturers, who stand back of their wares, identify them with the trade-marks that are your guarantee of quality. By advertising these trade-marks, they focus on their products the searchlight of attention.

Only good goods, fairly priced, can flourish in this light of publicity. For no merchandise and no business can thrive under the weight of public condemnation.

That is why a manufacturer, or a merchant, places the whole reputation of his business at stake every time he advertises. His goods must be as advertised.

So, in looking through this paper, remember this: the man who spends his money to invite your consideration of his wares, backs up his belief in his goods and leaves the final decision to you.

It pays you to read the advertisements. It pays you to buy advertised products.

5—Land settlement aid, which gives a veteran preference on the opening of public or Indian lands, and on all reclamation projects now in existence or hereafter established.

The committee estimated that seventy five percent of the veterans will elect the certificate plan, 22 1/2 per cent the farm, home and land settlement aid and 2 1/2 per cent vocational training.

FORD SAYS HE IS NOT PRESIDENTIAL TIMBER

Automobile Magnet "Wouldn't Turn His Hands" For The Nomination, His Friends Assert.

HAS TWO OTHER INTERESTS

Detroit, Mich., June 9 —Henry Ford is not a candidate for the presidency. He would not "turn his hands" to obtain the nomination, according to close associates here.

Ford, it is said, has but two interests today outside of his automobile business, Muscle Shoals and his plan for the reformation of the existing basis for money. Ford, declare close friends, will certainly never be a candidate for the presidency or any political office if Mrs. Ford has any voice in the matter. Mrs. Ford is thoroughly opposed to her husband taking on any more activities that will unduly tax his time and strength.

The action of the people of Dearborn in forming a "Ford for president" club was a complete surprise to Ford. He has never recognized the club in any way. Thousands of letters have been received at Dearborn urging Ford to be a candidate or, at least, to take on some form of political leadership. These suggestions have been met with silence. Ford's distaste for politics is well known. He has frequently declared "politics is a curse to the country."

Casper Jones Arrested in Indianapolis For Murder of Chris Zimmerman at Midnight

SAID TO HAVE BEEN DRUNK

"Peggy" Whom Jones is Alleged to Have Addressed in Road House, Provides Clew

Indianapolis, June 9.—Peggy! This name drifting through the smoke and noise of Chris Zimmerman's road house furnished the only clew upon which police arrested Casper Jones at 3 o'clock this morning on a charge of murdering the proprietor.

"Stick up your hands, everybody," is the warning Jones is alleged to have shouted through the revelry as he entered the Oakley Club at midnight and swinging a revolver and accused each man in turn of stealing a motometer from his automobile. Patrons of the place said he was drunk.

Warren Willis, a garageman for Zimmerman, picked up a shogun leaning against the wall. His first shot ruined a clock, the next shattered a window pane, and the third tore a corner from the bar.

The fourth is said to have struck Jones in the foot and leg. He was found to have been wounded when arrested. He started shooting and emptied his revolver at Willis.

Four shots went wild, but the fifth is alleged to have struck Zimmerman in the heart and the sixth to have pierced his shoulder. The proprietor of the place fell forward on his face and died while his wife looked on.

A waiting automobile enabled the man to escape, but someone had heard him talking to a "Peggy" earlier in the evening. The night riding police squad rounded up every "Peggy" known to it.

Zella Hansen, one of them, told the story which led to Jones' arrest. She asserted she and her sister, Elsie Hansen, and Goldie Mozler had been with Jones at the Oakley Club.

A Beautiful Woman Is Always A Well Woman

Here is the Advice of Mrs. Watts :

Covington, Ind.—"I was suffering with inward weakness which caused me to have a complete breakdown in health. I was so extremely nervous I could not sleep, could not eat, and was so weak I could scarcely walk across the floor. I doctored and took medicine with no relief. I was told an operation was necessary but to this I would not consent. Through the advice of my mother I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and by the time I had taken five bottles I was well and strong. Have been in such good health ever since that I have had no need for medicine."—Mrs. H. E. Watts.

The Fourth and Fireworks

Newman T. Miller, state fire marshal, has issued an appeal for a "safe and sane" celebration of the Fourth of July. It is his desire, he says, that the holiday shall be fittingly observed and celebrated in every community of the state, believing, as he does, that succeeding years but enhance the value of the momentous action taken by our forefathers on that date one hundred and forty-six years ago.

Rushville has had a "safe and sane" Fourth for several years and has found it quite as satisfactory as the old "rip-roaring" Fourth of

Fort Wayne Woman
Tells How It Completely Overcame Serious Stomach Trouble — Husband Also Received Remarkable Benefits.

"I used to be a nurse and I think I know a good medicine when I see it, so I don't hesitate to recommend Tanlac," said Mrs. C. A. Sheets, 808 W. Superior St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

"The 'flu' left me terribly weak and run down. Everything I ate caused awful burning sensations in my stomach and kept me in constant pain. I had sick headaches, dizziness and was so nervous I trembled like a leaf. My kidneys bothered me a great deal and I had no energy at all.

"Remembering how my father and mother got such good results from Tanlac when I was at home with them I started taking the medicine too. It gave me a wonderful appetite and only three bottles relieved me of all my troubles. My husband took the medicine also after he had the 'flu' and it set him right in a little while. We think Tanlac is the greatest medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

Organized Labor's Political Power
Claims a Score as Result of Nominating Their Choice

WILLIAM JOHNSON IS QUOTED

Leaders United on Fundamental Idea That Labor Will Make History in Campaigns

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 9.—An impressive demonstration of organized labor's political power was in the making here today.

With all of labor's chosen leaders united on the fundamental idea that labor should make the most aggressive political gesture in its history in this years congressional campaigns, the question most engaging their attention was the method by which the workers' political power could move effectively be exerted.

The desire and purpose of the leaders, which was clearly reflected by individual delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention, was summed up by William Johnson, president of the machinists' union, who said:

"What we did in Iowa we will do in many other places. The nomination of Brookhart in Iowa was a clear cut demonstration of labor's power, for it was accomplished by organized workers in co-operation with the farmers."

The convention of the American Federation of Labor meeting here next week, will be asked to sanction some method for obtaining the result labor leaders are determined on—the election to congress of men who in the opinion of the workers, better represent them than those now sitting.

In this connection the advisability of calling an early meeting of the conference for political activities which under the leadership of Johnson and others met some weeks ago in Chicago, has been put up to Johnson. Some of his colleagues in that effort to unite organized labor, the farmers and all the forces holding grievances against the present order of things have suggested to Johnson that instead of waiting until next December, when the next meeting of the conference is scheduled, he call it together immediately after the federation convention ends.

The purpose would be to plan immediately for the most aggressive and widespread congressional campaign possible with intensive organization of the workers everywhere. Johnson said today he had not yet decided about it, and probably would not until the federation convention ended.

"We may go on as we have, handling each state separately with such organization as we may be able to effect," said Johnson. "What we did in Iowa was done without the intensive organization we would have liked. It naturally spurs us on to better efforts. It was a demonstration to the country of what we can and will do."

The federation convention will be asked to adopt one of these methods of political action for this year's campaign:

1—A non-partisan campaign under the direction of a committee headed by Samuel Gompers.

2—A joint farmer-labor campaign, not controlled nor directed by the federation.

3—Through organization of a labor party.

James O'Connell, head of the metal trades workers, who with Gompers and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor form the federation campaign committee, declared the convention should endorse the Non Partisan campaign "to secure election of men liberal and broad enough to deal impartially with legislation for the interests of the human being rather than the dollar gatherer. We want men to safeguard labor's interests against the sordid desires of the moneyed interests and the employing classes of our country."

The wage cuts ordered by the railway labor board and the Colorado Coal decision by the supreme court have intensified the political feeling among the delegates. They feel too, that the national administration and particularly congress have been remiss in looking after the workers.

Unemployment of the past few months, coupled with high cost of living about which the workers point out, congress has done nothing, have made them more aggressive politically than any set of labor delegates associated in this country.

TO PLAY CAMBRIDGE CITY

Tail Lights Engage Merchant of Cincinnati to do Mound Duty

The Tail Lights will put forth a big effort to down the Cambridge City Grays on Sunday afternoon, when they play in that city, and a pitcher by the name of Merchant from Cincinnati will be given a try-out with the local team, in an effort to locate a good one, who can deliver the goods. The line-up for the locals will be practically the same as last Sunday, and most of the players are from this city.

If a good hurler can be secured, it is believed by the local management that a good team will be in the field, and fast teams in this vicinity will be booked.

This Time Last Year

Heime Groh, holdout third baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, was reinstated by Commissioner Landis, who ruled that he would have to play for the rest of the season with the Reds.

Carpentier took a day of rest at his Manhasset training camp and came to New York to see Tex Richard and attend a benefit.

Jack Dempsey's eye was healing and the champion resumed boxing at his Atlantic City training camp.

Tex Richard predicted that the receipts for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight would exceed $1,500,000.

Helped by Babe Ruth's homer and a single from the swat king's bat, the Yanks knocked off the White Sox 7 to 2.

Sensational playing by Bluege, rookie third baseman, enabled the Senators to make it three straight over Cleveland with a 6 to 1 win.

ANOTHER WAGE CUT IS PLANNED

was reached late last night at an executive meeting of union leaders representing virtually all the crafts hit by the wage reductions.

Earlier in the week it was decided to prepare figures showing the effect of the wage cuts on the living conditions of the men. Yesterday, however, the suggestion was made that the appeal be made to Harding as well as to the general public opinion of the nation.

There is no question of Harding's power to suspend the operation of the labor board's order, union leaders said.

The appeal will be carried to Washington by a committee, which will lay before the president a detailed written argument of the workers' case, buttressed with experts' figures. They will ask him to hold up the wage cuts and order a new investigation of the entire subject of railroad wages by some governmental agency.

At last night's meeting a committee on strike program was named, to prepare for a strike if the union men vote for it, and the appeal to Harding is unsuccessful.

Announcement from Chicago that another wage cut, affecting 350,000 clerks, signal men, marine department employees and stationary firemen, would be ordered next week by the labor board created no surprise among the union leaders here. In expectation of the broadening of the wage cut orders to include these employees, preparations have already

FEW GOLF TITLES

Present Season Will See Some New Names On The Championship Rolls, Prospects Show

TWO CHAMPS HAVE FALLEN

Miss Cecil Leitch And Willie Hunter Are Among The Big Contenders Whose Crowns Are Gone.

By Henry L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 9.—Already the young 1922 golf season looks like a heartless champion buster.

Two big champions have already been succeeded and more look all tagged and billed for the fate.

Miss Cecil Leitch, former British woman champion, regarded as the greatest woman player in the world, not only lost her title to Miss Joyce Wethered but received the worst beating that a finalist ever received in that tournament.

Next on the list was Willie Hunter, British amateur champion, who dropped his title to E. W. Holderness.

The British open championship is next on the list and it isn't wielding the hammer to figure that Jack Hutchison, the American holder of the title, may be the next champion casualty.

Before sailing Jock the Hutch, warned his followers not to expect too much of him and he announced that he felt he would not be able to retain the title. Jock knows a good deal about British golf and the conditions under which the tournaments are staged over there and he is not rash enough to boast of a doubtful conquest.

Many golf experts figure that Jess Guilford, American amateur champion, will retire after one year's reign and Jim Barnes will have no easy time coming out on top of the open pile again this year.

Americans did not figure very much in the British championships this year because the golf association refused to sponsor a big invasion and very few of the American stars were in a position to go it "on their own."

Miss Alexa Sterling, in winning the Metropolitan woman's championship, showed she is back in form which gave her predominance over all the other American woman stars for several years.

It would be no surprise this year to see her win back both the American and the Canadian titles.

Miss Leitch had intended to invade Canada and the United States again this summer, but since she has lost her title she may cancel her engagements. Miss Wethered, the new champion, hasn't had time to make any plans, but it is doubtful if she can make arrangements for an American trip on such short notice.

Did You Ever Use a Goodyear?

This is a question that we ask several times a day, and we find that nearly everyone has used them at some time or other. And the best part of it is when they stop to think they tell us that they believed it was the best tire they ever used. It is no trouble to sell them another one because GOODYEAR quality was never so high nor GOODYEAR price ever so low.

When you spend your money you want your money's worth—our advice is to buy GOODYEARS when you want tires.

Come in and let us show you the new GOODYEAR Cord at $13.50.

Last
Spoonful Same as the First

Calumet is made under such exacting conditions — packed in such a scientific manner, that its leavening strength and purity never vary. It retains its original strength for months after leaving the factories.

When you tip the can to get the last spoonful, you know your baking will turn out all right—the last spoonful is the same as the first. This uniform quality of is cause for its big demand. Housewives know they can depend upon the results obtained—that climatic conditions or temperature cannot deteriorate its positive leavening power.

When you buy baking powder remember these facts—that a uniform leavener means bakings that do not vary in quality—that Calumet is uniform.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a lb. when you want it.

CRUEL TREATMENT IS CAUSE FOR DIVORCES

State Bureau Shows That 2,168
Women And 768 Men Got Decrees On Those Grounds.

STATE TOTAL 6,570 IN YEAR.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 9. —Cruel treatment heads the list of causes for divorce granted last year according to the 1921 report of the Indiana legislative reference bureau made public today.

Of the 6,570 divorces granted 2,168 were obtained because of cruel treatment to the wife and 768 because the husband was treated cruelly.

Next to cruel treatment in the list abandonment was the chief cause. In these cases 781 women and 550 men were abandoned. Adultery ranked third.

Children were affected by the separation of their parents in almost half of the cases.

Still there were more marriages than divorces last year for the bureau figures show that there were 37,061 licenses granted.

Among the weddings being celebrated during the month of June was the marriage of Miss Crystal Myers, living north of the city, to Lloyd E. Berry, which was performed Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Myra Plummer, living south of Rushville. The Rev. R. R. Cross of Milroy performed the ceremony.

Bert Moses And Companion Reach Colorado Springs On Motor Trip

Former Rushville Man, Who Writes "Sap and Salt" for Leading Newspapers, Pays a Visit With Dr. W. W. Arnold, Also a Former Resident, and in the Meantime Signs The Telegraph, the leading Paper of Colorado Springs. He and Jesse Winburn are Enroute Home to Oregon in Automobile From New York.

Bert Moses, a former Rushville man, who is now living in Ashland, Oregon, and conducting a syndicate "Sap-and-Salt-in-the-Woods," who with Jesse Winburn spent several days here recently while enroute to Oregon from New York City in an automobile, were in Colorado Springs on June 4, where an interesting article appeared in The Telegraph, of that city, concerning their visit.

The following is taken from that paper, which also will soon begin to publish the daily sayings of the former Rushville newspaper writer: Jesse Winburn and Bert Moses are in town for a week or so, stopping at the Broadmoor, they are crossing the continent in a big Cadillac limousine. The trip began in New York city and will end at Ashland, Oregon.

Winburn is a retired business man, and Moses is the man who writes the epigrammatic paragraphs now appearing in the principal papers under the heading of "Sap and Salt."

Moses is quite fussy about his paragraphs, and insists that they be published in the leading papers of the country only. In Colorado Springs this means The Telegraph, of course. He and Winburn, as they cross the country, are selling the rights to publish "Sap and Salt," and when they reached Colorado Springs they naturally came straight to The Telegraph, where a contract was made for the exclusive publication of the feature. The paragraphs will begin to appear in our issue of June 12 and thereafter will be printed every week day.

Bert Moses is a Hoosier product, getting his first hard bumps in life in a country printing office in Rushville, Ind. This is the home town of our own distinguished and beloved Dr. W. W. Arnold, lover and benefactor of birds. As a boy Moses learned the printer's trade on the Rushville Republican, of which paper Dr. Arnold was a county correspondent. About 40 years ago Dr. Arnold left Rushville and settled in Colorado Springs. When Moses reached town the first thing he did was to visit his old friend, the doctor, and they thus renewed the fine friendship that was interrupted years ago.

Bert Moses has long enjoyed a wide reputation as a paragrapher. He puts sermons into sentences and cuts columns to lines. His strength lies in his ability to say the thing and stop. His work is a combination of clean humor, plain wisdom, homely philosophy and every-day honest sense, and in giving expression to his thoughts he shows a wonderful economy in the use of words.

The home of Jesse Winburn and Bert Moses is six miles up the canon from Ashland, Oregon. Here a resort has been built of native fir logs in the midst of 160 acres of virgin forest. The place is called "Sap-and-Salt-in-the-Woods" in honor of the work of Moses. This site is surrounded by a government reservation of many thousands of acres, and no hunting is permitted either by the government or by Jesse Winburn, who owns the resort.

Out in front of the cabins where Winburn and Moses live the wild deer come at night to lick the salt that has been placed there for them, and any day these beautiful creatures can be seen browsing in the brush around the place. The elevation is 4,000 feet at the cabins, and six miles further up the canon, Mt. Ashland lifts its snowy top 8,000 feet toward the sky. The melting snows come rushing down the canon to form Ashland creek and supply the village below with its fine water.

Not more than 100 feet from the cabin door the creek dashes over the rocks, and in these icy waters mountain trout leap to the fatuous fly whenever the angler chooses to lure them.

All about is the virgin forest. Ancient pines and firs rise as high as 200 feet, some of the sugar pines measuring eight feet and more in diameter. Here the woodsman and his heartless ax have not yet wrought their destruction, and here this generation can look upon the same primitive scenes that the Indians viewed before civilization began its work of waste and destruction.

Here, away from the struggle and tumult and noisome odors of the city—here where the clang of the trolley and the whistle of the traffic cop are unknown—Bert Moses does his work, taking human nature to pieces and putting it up in homeopathic doses for public consumption. What he writes makes people smile and think. To him no mission in life is higher than this.

Both Winburn and Moses lived long in New York city, chasing the elusive dollar. They had their fling at life where population was large and where acreage was small. Now they find more joy where conditions are reversed. Trees in a forest are more trustworthy companions than men in a city. A pine tree smokes no cigarettes, passes no buck, borrows no money and does no double-crossing. What a fine thing it would be if the same could be said of men!

Winburn is a unique character. He holds in his heart a warm corner for two classes of humanity—children and newspaper men. These he entertains freely at the Sap-and-Salt cabins, away up the Ashland creek canon. He extends to the newspaper people a standing invitation to come to this resort whenever they can and stay as long as they please. He has but two fixed rules that he enforces. One is that his guests bring their old clothes, so they may really have a good time, and the other is that they bring no money. Anything in the shape of legal tender is taboo.

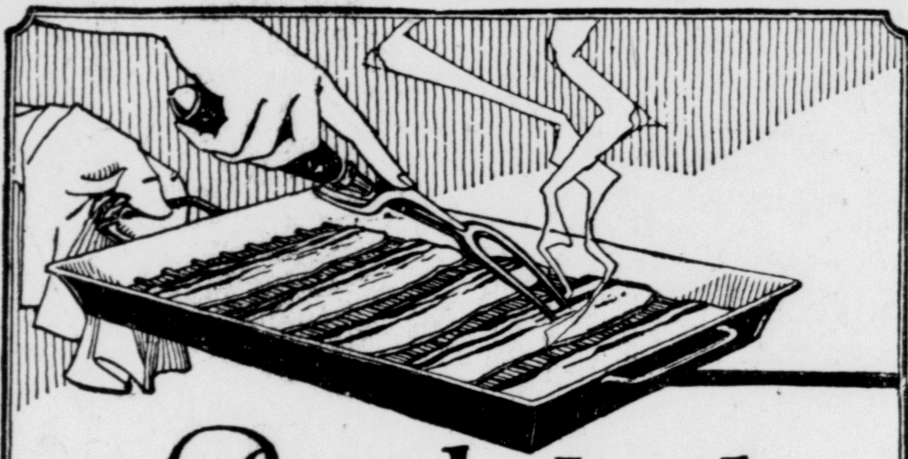

Many newspaper folks have come, worn and weary, to Sap-and-Salt-in-the-Woods. When they departed a new luster was in their eyes, a new vigor in their limbs, a new courage in their hearts. The invigorating air of the canon, the companionship of the pines and firs, the home cooking of old Mrs. Weston, the rich milk from the cow Frances Edith, the eggs from the fine Black Minorea hens, the exercise supplied by vigorous application of the ax, the hikes up the canon trail, and the sweet sleep invited by the lullaby of the creek as it dashes over the rocks on its long journey to the sea—all these restore what the struggle in the city has taken away from the overworked newspaper boys—and newspaper girls, too.

Moses roams the universe in imagination, while Winburn has roamed it in person. He has been everywhere there is to go, and bumped into everything there is at home and abroad. He has wandered all around the earth, and been so close to the North Pole that Doc Cook has nothing on him. When asked his opinion of Colorado Springs, he said the scenery here was equaled only by that around Ashland, Oregon. And as for hotels, he declared that, after visiting almost every resort in the world, he knew of none that equaled the Broadmoor, either in architectural beauty, completeness of appointments, magnificence of natural scenery or in excellence of service. Particularly did he praise Manager Burke for his tact, skill, forethought, patience and rare diplomacy in conducting the great institution.

MANY WOMEN FOR OFFICES IN FALL

A Survey Made by The National Woman's Party Shows Four Women Are Candidates

SEEK MINOR OFFICES ALSO

Miss Robertson Only Woman Member of Congress Believes She Will Have Company Soon

By KENNETH W. CLARK
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, June 9.—More women will seek high political offices in the elections this fall than ever before in the history of the country, a survey made by the national woman's party shows.

Already reports have been received that four women are candidates for the senate, twenty for the house and two for governors of states.

In addition to the women candidates for congressional and gubernatorial offices, there are scores of the "early enfranchised voters" in the race for minor offices.

Miss Alice Robertson, Oklahoma, the only woman member of congress, believes she will have considerable company in next congress. She thinks probably half a dozen women will be elected to the house. Although the national woman's party is vitally interested in the success of the woman's candidates, it has decided not to campaign for them as an organization. In other words, it will not seek the election of women, simply because they are women.

"We are not a political party in the sense of having a political ticket or party of our own," said Miss Alice Paul, head of the party. "We merely hold to the policy of acting as a balance of power group to secure action from the party in power."

Women running for the senate are from New York, Minnesota, Mississippi and Pennsylvania. In New York Mrs. Ella A. Boole is opposing Senator Calder on a strictly dry platform. Mrs. Peter Olesen, Democrat, has filed for Senator Kellogg's seat in Minnesota; Miss Belle Kearney, Jackson, is running for John Sharp Williams' seat in Mississippi, while Miss Rachel Crobinson is the prohibition party's candidate for the senate in Pennsylvania.

Women who are in the field for election to the house are:

Alabama, Mrs. Leila S. Edmundson and Mrs. T. T. Cottman; Arkansas, Mrs. Mary Gates Hamlin; Illinois, Mrs. Winifred Mason Hueck and Mrs. Mary B. Spencer; Indiana, Mrs. Artie G. Gullop and Miss Esther K. O'Keefe; California, Mrs. Annette Adams, who was formerly assistant attorney general; Michigan, Miss Alita M. Wheeler; Minnesota, Mrs. A. K. Gault; Nebraska, Mrs. Irene G. Baell; Missouri, Mrs. L. W. St. Clair-Moss.

Representative Alice Robertson, a candidate for re-election in Oklahoma's entrant; Pennsylvania, Mrs. Ellen D. Davis and Mrs. John D. Davenport; Tennessee, Miss Jennie Burks and Texas, Mrs. Lucien W. Parrish and Miss Annie Webb. V. Blanton, state superintendent of education.

The two women gubernatorial candidates are Miss Helen Pettengrew, Republican, Kansas and Miss Alice L. Daly, non-partisan, South Dakota.

TO VISIT NEAR EAST

Indianapolis, Ind., June 9.—Mead A. Kelsey, secretary of the Indiana committee of the Near East Relief, will sail from New York June 10 for Armenia where he will spend two months investigating conditions in the Near East. He will be joined in New York by a party of relief workers from that state. From the Moslem capital they will go into the interior of Turkey to visit centers where the relief organization is earning for more than 100,000 orphans.

"The Bearcat" At The Mystic
Coming from the pen of one of to-day's most popular writers of Western stories, F. R. Buckley, "The Bearcat," the universal attraction starring Hoot Gibson at the Mystic theatre today, will offer a little each of comedy, drama and romantic love interest.

Buckley built his yarn on the three proper story elements with a novel character to start with. The hero isn't a usual sort of chap at all. He goes around singing about how bad a bird he is and how he has to be watched. He rants melodiously of his two-gun activities and tries to convince everyone of his downright meanness.

When a man gets that way there's only one possible answer: a woman, and a bad woman at that.

It's bound to be a bad woman that makes a good man rave about how bad he is.

Of course the fellow impersonated by Hoot Gibson in "The Bearcat" doesn't always suffer under the illusion of his own wickedness. Lillian Rich is the girl, Charles French the sheriff, and Harold Goodwin, William Buckley, Fontaine LaRue, Alfred Hollingsworth, Jim Alamo, Joe Harris and W. J. Allen handle other principal roles. Edward Sedgwick directed from an adaptation by George Hively.

Vaudeville and Pictures today.

Wonderful scenic background, action of tense thrills, moments of heart breaking suspense and a girl of primitive charm are the ingredients of "The Cave Girl" produced by Inspiration Pictures, Inc., and released through the exchanges of Associated First National Pictures, Inc., which is being shown at the Princess today and Saturday.

The title role is being played by Teddie Gerard, an American girl whose name is byword in the stage circles of London and Paris, where she has appeared in a number of successes and where she has been during the last three years. Miss Gerard makes her debut in motion pictures in "The Cave Girl."

Another well known screen actor who appears in this picture is Charles Meredith who has the leading male role. He will be remembered for his parts in Ethel Clayton's pictures. The remainder of the cast includes Wilton Taylor, Eleanor Hancock, Lillian Tucker, Frank Coleman, Boris Karloff, Jake Abrahams and John Beck.

In connection with the feature photoplay, there will be two acts of vaudeville today and Saturday, and Round Three of the "Leather Patcher," also will be shown on the screen.

RAIL STRIKE STAR FOR COAL MINERS

National Railroad Crisis Would Stop Non-Union Fuel Production and Make Inroads on Coal Reserve

FORCE WAGE NEGOTIATIONS

Negotiations Covering Central Fields Have Been Goal of Coal Diggers Since Strike April 1

Indianapolis, Ind., June 9 -- The railroad labor crisis was a "star in the east" for 650,000 striking coal miners today.

A nation wide rail strike tying up transportation would stop non-union fuel production and heavy inroads on the depleted coal reserve would follow.

Mine owners then would be forced into wage negotiations with the United Mine Workers either by public sentiment or by the government intervening to protect the people in a coal shortage.

Negotiations covering the central field of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania has been the goal of the coal diggers since they dropped their picks April 1.

"The United Mine Workers stand ready today as they have throughout the strike to meet the operators of the central competitive field," it was said at miner headquarters here.

"But they'll have to come to us if a settlement is to be reached."

Conscious of their economic strength and of the loyalty of the 650,000 idle men, leaders in the mine strike apparently were confident of the outcome. President John L. Lewis conferred occasionally with subordinate officials, but for the most part he was merely awaiting the time when mine owners will enter a conference.

It is understood he considers negotiations covering the anthracite regions definitely halted until a peace move has been made in the bituminous war.

Thousands of letters have been received at miner headquarters from railroad workmen expressing dissatisfaction with the system under which they are hauling non-union coal.

The tone of all the letters was said to indicate the rail men will vote overwhelmingly for a strike in

COMMENTS ON E. B. THOMAS APPOINTMENT

The Hoosier Banker, Published By Indiana Bankers Association Speaks Of His Qualifications

WELL FITTED FOR THE PLACE.

Together with a picture of E. B. Thomas, formerly secretary of the Peoples Loan and Trust company of this city, the Hoosier Banker, published by the Indiana Bankers association, prints the following concerning the appointment of Mr. Thomas as president of the federal land bank of Porto Rico.

Ernest B. Thomas, secretary of the Peoples Loan and Trust Company of Rushville since its organization thirteen years ago, and a personal friend of James E. Watson, has been appointed President of the United States Federal Land Bank to be established at San Juan, Porto Rico.

The appointment was made when an American commission, of which he was a member, made an investigation of conditions on the island last June, and reported back to the farm loan board that the establishment of a federal land bank in Porto Rico would be feasible and that there was a demand of the people for such an institution.

The commission made a long report following the inquiry and recommended that a bank be established because of the need of Porto Rican farmers for capital. As a member of the commission, it was Mr. Thomas's duty to make inquiries and observations regarding the customs of the people and the land titles

While Mr. Thomas's host of friends are sorry to see him leave Indiana, they rejoice at his having been tendered this appointment. Mr. Thomas is eminently qualified to take up his new duties and the Indiana Bankers Association wishes him splendid success.

CARTHAGE COUPLE PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Howard Harriss and Mrs. Marie Codney Arrested on Serious Charge and Arraigned in Court

CARTHAGE PEOPLE COMPLAIN

Jury Hears Case of Thomas J. Marshall Against Capp and D. M. Miller in Court

Howard Harriss and Mrs. Marie Codney of Carthage were arrested Thursday by Sheriff Hunt on a warrant filed in the circuit court, charging them with a serious offense, and when arraigned before Judge Sparks, each entered a plea of not guilty.

Mrs. Codney gave bond in the sum of $100, but Harriss was in jail today upon default of the necessary bond. A complaint was registered this week by Carthage people against the conduct of the people, which resulted in the charges being preferred.

Both were arrested at the same house in Carthage yesterday, according to the sheriff. It is said, however, that the mother of the woman resides in the house, and runs a lodging and boarding house.

In the circuit court today the attention of the court was taken up with a jury case in which Thomas J. Marshall is plaintiff and Capp Miller and D. M. Miller are defendants.

A special venire of ten were on hand, and a jury for the case was obtained about ten o'clock. The twelve selected to try the case are Joel Carson, Elsworth Kiser, Ollie Offutt, A. L. Canady, Cliff Logan, Frank Megee, Robert Mansfield, John J. Frazier, Job Stevens, Ben F. Reeves, Morrison Beaver and Charles French.

The suit which is a damage suit for an alleged breach of contract, demands $2,000 judgment, and involved a sale of growing timber near Melanora. The plaintiff alleges that the defendants did not fulfill their part of the contract in removing the timber, and that because of their neglect, he sustained the financial loss.

The suit will go over until Sunday and will probably not reach the jury until Saturday afternoon.

Thomas Rice was arraigned late Thursday on one of the grand jury indictments, charging him with public intoxication, to which he entered a plea of guilty, and paid a fine of $5 and costs.

A charge against Donald Newman for wife desertion has been dismissed by the court, as the parties have reconciled their domestic troubles.

Henry Lafarra Arrested For Not Reporting For Drill Tuesday

Henry Lafarra is in jail for failure to report for drill at the National Guard armory on Tuesday night, and he will be kept in jail until released by Captain Will B. Braum of Company C. Lafarra is the second member of the guard who has been given a jail term for failing to report without having any good reason. The law governs the members the same as in the army, and all members of Company C are supposed to report for their weekly practice each Tuesday.

FRIES MEMORIAL DEDICATION SUNDAY

Large Monument to Brookville Flood Victims Will be Dedicated at Services

FUND RAISED IN RUSHVILLE

The Fries Memorial dedication will take place Sunday afternoon at 1:30 at Brookville when an appropriate ceremony will be carried out, on the spot where fourteen people lost their lives during the flood of March 25, 1913, which swept this part of the state, and which rendered hundreds of Brookville people destitute.

Six people by the name of Fries were drowned on a farm near Brookville, and as a memorial to them, a large monument has been erected, and a bronze tablet inscribed with the names of the 14 flood victims, who lost their lives during the flood.

The Kiwanis club of Brookville has charge of the program and the principal address will be delivered by Judge Raymond Springer of Connersville. George M. Fries, one of the survivors and a relative of the six victims, will deliver an address of appreciation.

It will be recalled here that during the flood of that year, Rush county people contributed generously to their relief, and approximately $2,500 was raised here, together with a large quantity of clothing and food.

FILES MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL OF CASE

Mrs. Clara Carl, Convicted of Second Degree Murder Last Saturday, Seeks Another Hearing

ARGUMENT SET FOR MONDAY

Mrs. Clara Carl of Hancock county, formerly of this city, through her attorneys, filed a motion for a new trial late Thursday of the murder case in which she was convicted last Saturday at Shelbyville. The motion was filed in the Shelby circuit court where a jury found her guilty of second degree, which carries a penalty of life imprisonment. Judge Alonzo Blair set next Monday as the time for hearing the arguments on the motion.

The action of the defense attorneys was anticipated and had been announced following the verdict of the jury which found Mrs. Carl guilty of murdering Frank Carl, her second husband, by administering poison. The motion is very lengthy and sets out important points of the defense that would cause the court to grant the plea for a new trial.

INTEREST DUE THE COUNTY ALL PAID

Unusual Condition Exists Regarding Congressional and Common School Interest Funds

NET GAIN IN READJUSTMENT

Rush County Adds $425.53 in the Transaction—Court Fines go to Common School Fund

The report on the congressional township interest fund and common school interest fund has been completed at the county auditor's office and will be forwarded to the state auditor.

The interesting thing about the report is that there is not a cent of interest on loans from the fund, which is delinquent. This is unusual because it is seldom the case that a county auditor has the interest all collected up to date. In past years the report on June first has shown as much as $1,300 interest delinquent.

It is doubtful if there is another county in the state where the congressional and common school interest funds are kept in as good condition as they are by the Rush county auditor, Phil Wilk. It is a very easy matter to permit the interest to go delinquent, but Mr. Wilk made an effort to collect all of the delinquencies soon after he assumed the duties of the office, and has endeavored to keep the record clear ever since.

The congressional township interest fund shows a balance of $23,880.57 and the common school fund a balance of $99,738.07.

A revenue of approximately $6,000 is derived each year from loaning the money in these funds at six percent interest. This money goes to the state twice a year as a part of the semi-annual distribution and is in turn distributed to the counties on a per capita basis. The counties then distribute it among the townships and city school corporations on the same basis.

The money is loaned on real estate only with first mortgage on the property as security. Although approximately half of the fund is now loaned on city real estate, and the other half on farm land, the auditor much prefers to have the loans on farms because there is little chance of loss on land.

When the owner of city property borrows money from this fund, he is expected to file his insurance policy on the house with the auditor to protect the county in case of fire. The risk for the county is greater on this kind of a loan because in case of fire and a subsequent loss, the county has to stand it. The amount of a loan is determined by a board of appraisers.

The amount in the congressional township interest fund had a balance of $23,455.04 June 1, 1921 and during the year $1,454 was received from other counties in a readjustment, making a total of $24,909.04. But the county had to pay out $1,028.47 in the readjustment, leaving a net balance June 1 of this year amounting to $23,880.57. Rush county's fund gained $425.53 in the readjustment this year.

Rush county received $211.23 from Shelby county, $80.55 from Hancock, $135.91 from Decatur, $390.72 from Franklin and $635.59 from Fayette. Rush county in turn paid Decatur county $903.82 and Fayette $124.65.

The common school interest fund had a balance of $98,871.06 on June 1, last year and received during the year $606 in fines and forfeitures from the circuit court, $220.01 from the justices of the peace and $41 from the mayor's court. The total in the fund on June 1 this year was $99,738.07.

WAR MATERIALS SOLD BY STATE

STEEL RAILS AND BICYCLES

Secretary of War Says it is Manifestly Improper for Highway Commission to Sell Surplus.

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., June 9.—Further disclosure of state sales of surplus war materials given by the federal government were made today in survey of the highway commission records and in an interview with Governor McCray.

Twenty thousand dollars worth of steel rails given to the state by the United States were sold at private sales, and the governor said enough rails were left to meet the requirements of the state penal farm and the Indiana reformatory.

The practice of selling material unavailable for use by the highway commission at private sales was inaugurated by L. H. Wright, former director of the roads body, McCray said, and it has been continued during the present administration. It was profitable for the state, the governor said.

One consignment of motor trucks received here contained 365 bicycles which the commission disposed of at $15 each. Other states are following the practice, McCray asserted. A similar allotment of bicycles went to Kentucky and were sold at $10 each.

Washington, June 9.—It would be manifestly improper for state highway commissions to sell road building material turned over to them by the federal government, Secretary of War Weeks said today.

When his attention was called to reports that the Indiana commission has sold some material received from the government, Weeks said he would take the matter up with the department of agriculture which has been disposing of the surplus road building material. What action would be taken if the investigation revealed sales by the state agencies was not revealed.

PINNED UNDER MACHINE

Paul B. Williams of Carthage Narrowly Escapes in Injury

Paul B. Williams of Carthage narrowly escaped serious injury Wednesday night, near Raleigh, when the machine which he was operating was struck by another machine, and his machine overturned twice, pinning him underneath. Williams managed, however, to get himself loose from the wreckage, and he only suffered bruises and scratches, escaping from such a serious accident in a miraculous manner.

The person who struck him, never stopped but managed to keep their machine on the road and escaped, leaving Williams in this predicament. The Carthage machine was badly damaged as the result of its upset.

BATTLE MONUMENT DEDICATED TODAY

Tribute to Achievements of Washington's Patriot Army Paid by President Harding

SPEAKS AT PRINCETON, N. J.

Real Monument to Victory Rears Itself in Institutions of Liberty We Have, He Says

By THOMAS L. STOKES

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Princeton, N. J., June 9.—Tribute to the "achievements of Washington's patriot army" was paid here today by President Harding at the dedication of the Princeton battle monument with the enunciation that the real monument to the victory "rears itself in the institutions of liberty and representative government, now big in the vision of all mankind."

The monument commemorates the victory of Washington in the Trenton-Princeton campaign, following his crossing of the Delaware.

"In the presence of such a monument, we can do no better than consecrate ourselves to the cause in which, at this place the soul of genius and the spirit of sacrifice, shone forth with steadfast reliance," the president declared.

Speaking of the significance of the battle, the president said:

"We cannot say that the cause of independence and union would have been lost without it; but we must find ourselves at a loss if we attempt to picture the successful conclusion of the revolution had there been another and indifferent issue from the struggle of those hard, midwinter days."

"On no other battleground, in the presence of no other memorial of heroism, could we find more assuring illumination of our hopes, our anticipations, our confidence."

The president paid high tribute to the little revolutionary band which "trudged through storm and torrent; but from here in the hour of victory, sent out winged messengers to let all men know that liberty was safe in the keeping of her sons."

After tracing the steps which led to victory, he declared that though "battles have seldom decided the fate of peoples," yet "among the exceptions, among the cases in which a particular conflict has had consequences and reverberations for greater in their potency than could possibly be imagined from a consideration of the numbers engaged, or the immediate results, none stands out more distinctly than does the Trenton-Princeton campaign."

Raritan, N. J., June 9.—President Harding rounded off his brief vacation here at the home of Senator Frelinghuysen with a game of golf today. The presidential party then left by automobile for Princeton to attend the dedication of the battle monument.

The party was expected to reach Princeton just before the dedication exercises at 1 o'clock and will go to the home of Bayard Stockton, president of the battle monument committee which has brought reality to

ANOTHER WAGE CUT IS PLANNED

Railroad Labor Board Expects to Trim Pay of Clerks, Signalmen And Stationary Firemen

WILL AFFECT 350,000 MEN

Shop and Maintenance of Way Employees Draft Appeal to President to Prevent Slash

Chicago, June 9.—Another wage cut affecting 350,000 men is being prepared by the United States railroad labor board, it became known here today.

The reduction, expected to be announced next week, comes in face of strike threats of disgruntled workers from whose pay $110,000,000 has been lopped.

The latest decision of the board will trim the pay of the following crafts:

Clerks, signalmen, marine department employees and stationary firemen.

Amount of the decrease was not divulged.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 9.—Drafting of an appeal to President Harding to prevent $109,000,000 wage cuts recently ordered by the United States railroad labor board being made effective July 1 was begun here today by a special committee representing 1,200,000 shop and maintenance of way employees of the railroads.

"Suspend the wage reductions until we have had an opportunity to prove to you and to the labor board their inequity and the disastrous effect their enforcement will have upon the workers," was to be the gist of the appeal.

A week will be required in its preparation, B. M. Jewell, head of the railroad employees department, American Federation of Labor, said today. Statistical experts of the railroad unions began preparation today of a detailed analysis of the wage and cost of living situation. This will be included in the appeal to Harding. It will show, union officials said, that the wage reductions would put the shop crafts and maintenance of way employees on a "starvation basis."

The decision to appeal to Harding Continued on page five

RUSHVILLE BOY DOING RESEARCH AT PURDUE

J. H. Brecheisen, Who Will be Graduated Next Week, Writing Thesis on High Tension Corona

CONDUCTING EXPERIMENTS

Lafayette, Ind., June 9.—J. H. Brecheisen of Rushville is completing his work at Purdue University in writing a thesis on "Corona Loss between Wires at Very High Voltages."

"Corona" is the glowing discharge which emanates from electrical conductors or wires when carrying very high voltages. The formation of corona causes a loss in the energy of the current and as little is known about corona at very high voltages, Mr. Brecheisen's work will have great practical value to the electrical industry.

The experiments will be carried on over the recently completed high tension line of the Purdue Engineering Experiment Station. This line is 1,710 feet long, is carried on four towers each 65 feet high and with 40 foot cross arms so arranged that the wires may be moved in and out and allow the distance between the conductors to be varied. A voltage of 600,000 will be carried over aluminum wires donated by the Aluminum Company of America. Five different sizes of wires will be used in the course of the experiments.

Associated with Mr. Brecheisen in this thesis are M. A. Lorber of Indianapolis and R. J. Rhinehart, of Logansport. All three will be graduated from the school of electrical engineering next week.

Don't Neglect These Principles of Battery Care

The very first thing to do when you buy a new car is to bring it in to Battery Headquarters and let us make sure the battery is in good condition.

Then it's easy to keep it going along the right path of slow, normal wear.

It's not much trouble to look after it yourself if you have a hydrometer, but we'll gladly do it whether your battery is a Willard or not.

INTEREST ON DEBT TO PROVIDE CASH

Senate Finance Committee Reports Adjusting Compensation Measure of Soldier Bonus Bill

NO ADDITIONAL TAXATION

Action of Presenting Bill Makes Possible Consideration of it at Any Time Leaders Desire

Washington, June 9.—Belief that the cash necessary for the soldiers bonus bill will be obtained from interest payments on the allied debt to the United States was expressed by republican members of the senate finance committee Thursday in formally reporting the adjusting compensation measure to the senate.

The report, accompanying the bill, declares that the bonus can be paid during the next three years without additional taxation and that after that the money can be obtained through reduction in governmental expenditures and payments on the foreign debt.

The action of Chairman McCumber in presenting the bill to the senate makes it possible for consideration of it to start at any time Republican leaders desire.

The total and eventual cost of the senate bill was estimated at $3,845,659,481 with the statement that 4,458,199 persons who served in the military or naval forces during the war will receive its benefits.

"The world war foreign debt commission," says the report of McCumber, "has already taken steps to refund the demand obligations of foreign countries into long term securities and it is hoped will be able to secure such obligations in the very near future and that it will be possible for the foreign governments to provide for the immediate payment of interest thereon, that such interest can be used toward defraying the expenses authorized under this act."

"It is believed the United States can count on receiving interest payments from now on, such payments aggregating about $200,000,000 per annum. This would be nearly three times the amount necessary to meet the obligations created by this bill for the first two years."

"It is the opinion of your committee that during the next three years period the payments under this bill can be made without additional taxation. It is hoped that by the end of this three year period the reduction in governmental expenditures plus the payment of interest upon foreign obligations will be sufficient to obviate the imposition of additional taxation."

"If it does become necessary to impose additional taxation it is believed we can better determine the amount of the necessary levy and the methods of distributing such burdens for the future at a later date when the future condition of the treasury will be more accurately established."

Asking support for the measure, the report sharply attacks its opponents.

"The purpose of the bill," the report says, "is to give to the soldier who offered his life with his services as a compensation that will more nearly approach the figure of the laborer who remained at home, secure from danger, and whose compensation increased from 200 to 300 per cent and measured by the amount of labor actually performed, a percentage far beyond figures."

"During the world war we paid our soldiers $30 per month or $1 per day."

"A fair estimate of the cost would be about $2 per day. We might therefore say the private soldier received a compensation for his services equivalent to $3 per day which was very much less than received by the lowest paid laborer."

Briefly the McCumber bill provides an option of five plans for adjusted compensation.

1—Adjusted service pay, limited to veterans whose service credit is not more than $50

2—Adjusted service certificate, permitting the veterans to receive a paid up insurance policy payable at the end of twenty years and allowing $1.25 a day for domestic service and $1.75 for foreign. The bill further provides banks may loan on this certificate up to 50 per cent of full value.

3—Vocational training aid, at the expense of the government to an amount equal to his adjusted service plus forty per cent at the rate of $1.75 per day.

4—Farm or home aid, enabling veterans to receive from govern-

THE NATIONAL TRADE-MARK

OLD silversmiths, in order to help people tell pure silver from cheaper imitations, marked the real thing "sterling."

In a like manner, manufacturers, who stand back of their wares, identify them with the trade-marks that are your guarantee of quality. By advertising these trade-marks, they focus on their products the searchlight of attention.

Only good goods, fairly priced, can flourish in this light of publicity. For no merchandise and no business can thrive under the weight of public condemnation.

That is why a manufacturer, or a merchant, places the whole reputation of his business at stake every time he advertises. His goods must be as advertised.

So, in looking through this paper, remember this: the man who spends his money to invite your consideration of his wares, backs up his belief in his goods and leaves the final decision to you.

It pays you to read the advertisements. It pays you to buy advertised products.

Advertising is your protection.

ment for purpose of making improvements on homes or to make payments on home or farm, an amount equal to his adjusted service credit plus 25 per cent.

5—Land settlement aid, which gives a veteran preference on the opening of public or Indian lands, and on all reclamation projects now in existence or hereafter established.

The committee estimated that seventy five percent of the veterans will elect the certificate plan, 22 1/2 per cent the farm, home and land settlement aid and 2 1/2 per cent vocational training.

FORD SAYS HE IS NOT PRESIDENTIAL TIMBER

Automobile Magnet "Wouldn't Turn His Hands" For The Nomination, His Friends Assert.

HAS TWO OTHER INTERESTS

Detroit, Mich., June 9.—Henry Ford is not a candidate for the presidency. He would not "turn his hands" to obtain the nomination, according to close associates here.

Ford, it is said, has but two interests today outside of his automobile business, Muscle Shoals and his plan for the reformation of the existing basis for money. Ford, declare close friends, will certainly never be a candidate for the presidency or any political office if Mrs. Ford has any voice in the matter. Mrs. Ford is thoroughly opposed to her husband taking on any more activities that will unduly tax his time and strength.

The action of the people of Dearborn in forming a "Ford for president" club was a complete surprise to Ford. He has never recognized the club in any way. Thousands of letters have been received at Dearborn urging Ford to be a candidate or, at least, to take on some form of political leadership. These suggestions have been met with silence. Ford's distaste for politics is well known. He has frequently declared "politics is a curse to the country."

FARM HELP HARD TO GET

Plymouth, Ind., June 9.—Northern Indiana farmers report that it is now more difficult to engage competent farm help than at any time in the last three years. This indicates that Marshall and other northern Indiana counties are not suffering from unemployment. Agents of the Wabash railroad Co., recently visited the small town of Benton and sought to engage the services of 17 men to work in a gravel pit near that point but not one idle man could be found.

WHEAT OUTLOOK BETTER

Washington, June 8.—The wheat crop this year will total 855,000,000 bushels compared with 795,000,000 bushels last year, the department of agriculture estimated today. The forecast was made on a condition of 84.3 percent of normal on June 1 of this year. The condition on June 1 last year was 82 percent.

Casper Jones Arrested in Indianapolis For Murder of Chris Zimmerman at Midnight

SAID TO HAVE BEEN DRUNK

"Peggy" Whom Jones is Alleged to Have Addressed in Road House, Provides Clew

Indianapolis, June 9.—Peggy! This name drifting through the smoke and noise of Chris Zimmerman's road house furnished the only clew upon which police arrested Casper Jones at 3 o'clock this morning on a charge of murdering the proprietor.

"Stick up your hands, everybody," is the warning Jones is alleged to have shouted through the revelry as he entered the Oakley Club at midnight and swinging a revolver and accused each man in turn of stealing a motorometer from his automobile. Patrons of the place said he was drunk.

Warren Willis, a garageman for Zimmerman, picked up a shogun leaning against the wall. His first shot ruined a clock, the next shattered a window pane, and the third tore a corner from the bar.

The fourth is said to have struck Jones in the foot and leg. He was found to have been wounded when arrested. He started shooting and emptied his revolver at Willis.

Four shots went wild, but the fifth is alleged to have struck Zimmerman in the heart and the sixth to have pierced his shoulder. The proprietor of the place fell forward on his face and died while his wife looked on.

A waiting automobile enabled the man to escape, but someone had heard him talking to a "Peggy" earlier in the evening. The night riding police squad rounded up every "Peggy" known to it.

Zella Hansen, one of them, told the story which led to Jones' arrest. She asserted she and her sister, Elsie Hansen, and Goldie Mozier had been with Jones at the Oakley Club.

A Beautiful Woman Is Always A Well Woman

Here is the Advice of Mrs. Watts:

Covington, Ind.—"I was suffering with inward weakness which caused me to have a complete breakdown in health. I was so extremely nervous I could not sleep, could not eat, and was so weak I could scarcely walk across the floor. I doctored and took medicine with no relief. I was told an operation was necessary but to this I would not consent. Through the advice of my mother I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and by the time I had taken five bottles I was well and strong. Have been in such good health ever since that I have had no need for medicine."—Mrs. H. E. Watts.

PEACE WITH ALL MEN—
Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord.—Hebrews 12: 14.

The Fourth and Fireworks

Newman T. Miller, state fire marshal, has issued an appeal for a "safe and sane" celebration of the Fourth of July. It is his desire, he says, that the holiday shall be fittingly observed and celebrated in every community of the state, believing, as he does, that succeeding years but enhance the value of the momentous action taken by our forefathers on that date one hundred and forty-six years ago.

Rushville has had a "safe and sane" Fourth for several years and has found it quite as satisfactory as the old "trip-tearing" Fourth of

"I used to be a nurse and I think I know a good medicine when I see it, so I don't hesitate to recommend Tanlag," said Mrs. C. A. Sheets, 805 W. Superior St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

"The Tanlag let me terribly weak and run down. Everything I ate caused awful burning sensations in my stomach and kept me in constant pain. I had sick headaches, dizziness and was so nervous I trembled like a leaf. My kidneys bothered me a great deal and I had no energy at all.

"Remembering how my father and mother got such good results from Tanlag when I was at home with them I started taking the medicine. It gave me a wonderful appetite and only three bottles relieved me of all my troubles. My husband took the medicine also after he had the Tanlag and it set him right in a little while. We think Tanlag is the greatest medicine in the world." Tanlag is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

Organized Labor's Political Power Claims a Score as Result of Nominating Their Choice

WILLIAM JOHNSON IS QUOTED

Leaders United on Fundamental Idea That Labor Will Make History in Campaigns

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 9.—An impressive demonstration of organized labor's political power was in the making here today.

With all of labor's chosen leaders united on the fundamental idea that labor should make the most aggressive political gesture in its history in this years congressional campaigns, the question most engaging their attention was the method by which the workers' political power could move effectively be exerted.

The desire and purpose of the leaders, which was clearly reflected by individual delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention, was summed up by William Johnson, president of the machinists' union, who said:

"What we did in Iowa we will do in many other places. The nomination of Brookhart in Iowa was a clear cut demonstration of labor's power, for it was accomplished by organized workers in co-operation with the farmers."

The convention of the American Federation of Labor meeting here next week, will be asked to sanction some method for obtaining the result labor leaders are determined on—the election to congress of men who in the opinion of the workers, better represent them than those now sitting.

In this connection the advisability of calling an early meeting of the conference for political activities which under the leadership of Johnson and others met some weeks ago in Chicago, has been put up to Johnson. Some of his colleagues in that effort to unite organized labor, the farmers and all the forces holding grievances against the present order of things have suggested to Johnson that instead of waiting until next December, when the next meeting of the conference is scheduled, he call it together immediately after the federation convention ends.

The purpose would be to plan immediately for the most aggressive and widespread congressional campaign possible with intensive organization of the workers everywhere. Johnson said today he had not yet decided about it, and probably would not until the federation convention ended.

"We may go on as we have, handling each state separately with such organization as we may be able to effect," said Johnson. "What we did in Iowa was done without the intensive organization we would have liked. It naturally spurs us on to better efforts. It was a demonstration to the country of what we can and will do."

The federation convention will be asked to adopt one of these methods of political action for this year's campaign:

1—A non-partisan campaign under the direction of a committee headed by Samuel Gompers.

2—A joint farmer-labor campaign, not controlled nor directed by the federation.

3—Through organization of a labor party.

James O'Connell, head of the metal trades workers, who with Gompers and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor form the federation campaign committee, declared the convention should endorse the Non Partisan campaign "to secure election of men liberal and broad enough to deal impartially with legislation for the interests of the human being rather than the dollar gatherer. We want men to safeguard labor's interests against the sordid desires of the moneyed interests and the employing classes of our country."

The wage cuts ordered by the railway labor board and the Colorado Coal decision by the supreme court have intensified the political feeling among the delegates. They feel too, that the national administration and particularly congress have been remiss in looking after the workers.

Unemployment of the past few months, coupled with high cost of living about which the workers point out, congress has done nothing, have made them more aggressive politically than any set of labor delegates associated in this country.

Tail Lights' Engage Merchant of Cincinnati to do Mound Duty

The Tail Lights will put forth a big effort to down the Cambridge City Grays on Sunday afternoon, when they play in that city, and a pitcher by the name of Merchant from Cincinnati will be given a try-out with the local team, in an effort to locate a good one, who can deliver the goods. The line-up for the locals will be practically the same as last Sunday, and most of the players are from this city.

If a good hurler can be secured, it is believed by the local management that a good team will be in the field, and fast teams in this vicinity will be booked.

ANOTHER WAGE CUT IS PLANNED

was reached late last night at an executive meeting of union leaders representing virtually all the crafts hit by the wage reductions.

Earlier in the week it was decided to prepare figures showing the effect of the wage cuts on the living conditions of the men. Yesterday, however, the suggestion was made that the appeal be made to Harding as well as to the general public opinion of the nation.

There is no question of Harding's power to suspend the operation of the labor board's order, union leaders said.

The appeal will be carried to Washington by a committee, which will lay before the president a detailed written argument of the workers' case, buttressed with experts' figures. They will ask him to hold up the wage cuts and order a new investigation of the entire subject of railroad wages by some governmental agency.

At last night's meeting a committee on strike program was named, to prepare for a strike if the union men vote for it, and the appeal to Harding is unsuccessful.

Announcement from Chicago that another wage cut, affecting 350,000 clerks, signal men, marine department employees and stationary firemen, would be ordered next week by the labor board created no surprise among the union leaders here. In expectation of the broadening of the wage cut orders to include these employees, preparations have already

TWO CHAMPS HAVE FALLEN

Miss Cecil Leitch And Willie Hunter Are Among The Big Contenders Whose Crowns Are Gone.

By Henry L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 9.—Already the young 1922 golf season looks like a heartless champion buster.

Two big champions have already been succeeded and more look all tagged and billed for the fate.

Miss Cecil Leitch, former British woman champion, regarded as the greatest woman player in the world, not only lost her title to Miss Joyce Wethered but received the worst beating that a finalist ever received in that tournament.

Next on the list was Willie Hunter British amateur champion, who dropped his title to E. W. Holderness.

The British open championship is next on the list and it isn't wielding the hammer to figure that Jack Hutchinson, the American holder of the title, may be the next champion casualty.

Before sailing Jock the Hutch, warned his followers not to expect too much of him and he announced that he felt he would not be able to retain the title. Jock knows a good deal about British golf and the conditions under which the tournaments are staged over there and he is not rash enough to boast of a doubtful conquest.

Many golf experts figure that Jess Guilford, American amateur champion, will retire after one year's reign and Jim Barnes will have no easy time coming out on top of the open pile again this year.

Americans did not figure very much in the British championships this year because the golf association refused to sponsor a big invasion and very few of the American stars were in a position to go it "on their own."

Miss Alexa Sterling, in winning the Metropolitan woman's championship, showed she is back in form, which gave her predominance over all the

CRUEL TREATMENT IS CAUSE FOR DIVORCES

State Bureau Shows That 2,168 Women And 768 Men Got Decrees On Those Grounds.

STATE TOTAL 6,570 IN YEAR.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 9. —Cruel treatment heads the list of causes for divorce granted last year according to the 1921 report of the Indiana legislative reference bureau made public today.

Of the 6570 divorces granted 2,168 were obtained because of cruel treatment to the wife and 768 because the husband was treated cruelly.

Next to cruel treatment in the list abandonment was the chief cause. In these cases 781 women and 550 men were abandoned. Adultery ranked third.

Children were affected by the separation of their parents in almost half of the cases.

Still there were more marriages than divorces last year for the bureau figures show that there were 37,061 licenses granted.

Among the weddings being celebrated during the month of June was the marriage of Miss Crystal Myers, living north of the city, to Lloyd E. Berry, which was performed Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Myra Plummer, living south of Rushville. The Rev. R. R. Cross of Milroy performed the ceremony.

Bert Moses And Companion Reach Colorado Springs On Motor Trip

Former Rushville Man, Who Writes "Sap and Salt" for Leading Newspapers, Pays a Visit With Dr. W. W. Arnold, Also a Former Resident, and in the Meantime Signs The Telegraph, the leading Paper of Colorado Springs. He and Jesse Winburn are Enroute Home to Oregon in Automobile From New York.

Bert Moses, a former Rushville man, who is now living in Ashland, Oregon, and conducting a syndicate "Sap-and-Salt-in-the-Woods," who with Jesse Winburn spent several days here recently while enroute to Oregon from New York City in an automobile, were in Colorado Springs on June 4, where an interesting article appeared in The Telegraph, of that city, concerning their visit.

The following is taken from that paper, which also will soon begin to publish the daily sayings of the former Rushville newspaper writer: Jesse Winburn and Bert Moses are in town for a week or so, stopping at the Broadmoor. They are crossing the continent in a big Cadillac limousine. The trip began in New York city and will end at Ashland, Oregon.

Winburn is a retired business man, and Moses is the man who writes the epigrammatic paragraphs now appearing in the principal papers under the heading of "Sap and Salt."

Moses is quite fussy about his paragraphs, and insists that they be published in the leading papers of the country only. In Colorado Springs this means The Telegraph, of course. He and Winburn, as they cross the country, are selling the rights to publish "Sap and Salt," and when they reached Colorado Springs they naturally came straight to The Telegraph, where a contract was made for the exclusive publication of the feature. The paragraphs will begin to appear in our issue of June 12 and thereafter will be printed every week day.

Bert Moses is a Hoosier product, getting his first hard bumps in life in a country printing office in Rushville, Ind. This is the home town of our own distinguished and beloved Dr. W. W. Arnold, lover and benefactor of birds. As a boy Moses learned the printer's trade on the Rushville Republican, of which paper Dr. Arnold was a county correspondent. About 40 years ago Dr. Arnold left Rushville and settled in Colorado Springs. When Moses reached town the first thing he did was to visit his old friend, the doctor, and they thus renewed the fine friendship that was interrupted years ago.

Bert Moses has long enjoyed a wide reputation as a paragrapher. He puts sermons into sentences and cuts columns to lines. His strength lies in his ability to say the thing and stop. His work is a combination of clean humor, plain wisdom, homely philosophy and every-day boss sense, and in giving expression to his thoughts he shows a wonderful economy in the use of words.

The home of Jesse Winburn and Bert Moses is six miles up the canon from Ashland, Oregon. Here a resort has been built of native fir logs in the midst of 160 acres of virgin forest. The place is called "Sap-and-Salt-in-the-Woods" in honor of the work of Moses. This site is surrounded by a government reservation of many thousands of acres, and no hunting is permitted either by the government or by Jesse Winburn, who owns the resort.

Out in front of the cabins where Winburn and Moses live the wild deer come at night to lick the salt that has been placed there for them, and any day these beautiful creatures can be seen browsing in the brush around the place. The elevation is 4,000 feet at the cabins, and six miles further up the canon, Mt. Ashland lifts its snowy top 8,000 feet toward the sky. The melting snows come rushing down the canon to form Ashland creek and supply the village below with its fine water.

Not more than 100 feet from the cabin door the creek dashes over the rocks, and in these icy waters mountain trout leap to the fatuous fly whenever the angler chooses to lure them.

All about is the virgin forest. Ancient pines and firs rise as high as 200 feet, some of the sugar pines measuring eight feet and more in diameter. Here the woodsman and his heartless ax have not yet wrought their destruction, and here this generation can look upon the same primitive scenes that the Indians viewed before civilization began its work of waste and destruction.

Here, away from the struggle and tumult and noisome odors of the city—here where the clang of the trolley and the whistle of the traffic cop are unknown—Bert Moses does his work, taking human nature to pieces and putting it up in homeopathic doses for public consumption. What he writes makes people smile and think. To him no mission in life is higher than this.

Both Winburn and Moses lived long in New York city, chasing the elusive dollar. They had their fling at life where population was large and where acreage was small. Now they find more joy where conditions are reversed. Trees in a forest are more trustworthy companions than men in a city. A pine tree smokes no cigarettes, passes no buck, borrows no money and does no double-crossing. What a fine thing it would be if the same could be said of men!

Winburn is a unique character. He holds in his heart a warm corner for two classes of humanity—children and newspaper men. These he entertains freely at the Sap-and-Salt cabins, away up the Ashland creek canon. He extends to the newspaper people a standing invitation to come to this resort whenever they can and stay as long as they please. He has but two fixed rules that he enforces. One is that his guests bring their old clothes, so they may really have a good time, and the other is that they bring no money. Anything in the shape of legal tender is taboo.

Many newspaper folks have come, worn and weary, to Sap-and-Salt-in-the-Woods. When they departed a new luster was in their eyes, a new vigor in their limbs, a new courage in their hearts. The invigorating air of the canon, the companionship of the pines and firs, the home cooking of old Mrs. Weston, the rich milk from the cow Frances Edith, the eggs from the fine Black Minorca hens, the exercise supplied by vigorous application of the ax, the hikes up the canon trail, and the sweet sleep invited by the lullaby of the creek as it dashes over the rocks on its long journey to the sea—all these restore what the struggle in the city has taken away from the overworked newspaper boys—and newspaper girls, too.

Moses roams the universe in imagination, while Winburn has roamed it in person. He has been everywhere there is to go, and bumped into everything there is at home and abroad. He has wandered all around the earth, and been so close to the North Pole that Doc Cook has nothing on him. When asked his opinion of Colorado Springs, he said the scenery here was equaled only by that around Ashland, Oregon. And as for hotels, he declared that, after visiting almost every resort in the world, he knew of none that equaled the Broadmoor, either in architectural beauty, completeness of appointments, magnificence of natural scenery or in excellence of service. Particularly did he praise Manager Burke for his tact, skill, forethought, patience and rare diplomacy in conducting the great institution.

Senate Manufactures Committee Will Start Investigation Of High Gasoline Prices.

TO APPOINT SUB COMMITTEE

Washington, June 9.—Representatives of the large oil companies will be summoned to appear before the senate manufacturers committee next week in its probe of high gasoline prices. Senator La Follette, chairman, indicated today.

The committee met to go over reports from the federal trade commission and the geological survey which have turned over the La Follette detailed accounts of gasoline production and consumption during the past few years.

The Wisconsin senator who is leading the fight against recent advances in gasoline prices and the leasing of government oil lands to private oil interests got the investigation well under way today.

La Follette was expected to name today a sub-committee of five senators picked from the manufacturers committee, to conduct the inquiry.

MANY WOMEN FOR OFFICES IN FALL

A Survey Made by The National Woman's Party Shows Four Women Are Candidates

SEEK MINOR OFFICES ALSO

Miss Robertson Only Woman Member of Congress Believes She Will Have Company Soon

By KENNETH W. CLARK
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, June 9.—More women will seek high political offices in the elections this fall than ever before in the history of the country, a survey made by the national woman's party shows.

Already reports have been received that four women are candidates for the senate, twenty for the house and two for governors of states.

In addition to the women candidates for congressional and gubernatorial offices, there are scores of the "early enfranchised voters" in the race for minor offices.

Miss Alice Robertson, Oklahoma, the only woman member of congress, believes she will have considerable company in next congress. She thinks probably half a dozen women will be elected to the house. Although the national woman's party is vitally interested in the success of the woman's candidates, it has decided not to campaign for them as an organization. In other words, it will not seek the election of women, simply because they are women.

"We are not a political party in the sense of having a political ticket or party of our own," said Miss Alice Paul, head of the party. "We merely hold to the policy of acting as a balance of power group to secure action from the party in power."

Women running for the senate are from New York, Minnesota, Mississippi and Pennsylvania. In New York Mrs. Ella A. Boole is opposing Senator Cuddeback on a strictly dry platform. Mrs. Peter Olesen, Democrat, has filed for Senator Kellogg's seat in Minnesota; Miss Belle Kearney, Jackson, is running for John Sharp Williams' seat in Mississippi, while Miss Rachel Crobinson is the prohibition party's candidate for the senate in Pennsylvania.

Women who are in the field for election to the house are: Alabama, Mrs. Leila S. Edmundson and Mrs. T. T. Cottman; Arkansas, Mrs. Mary Gates Hamlin; Illinois, Mrs. Winifred Mason Hueck and Mrs. Mary B. Spencer; Indiana, Mrs. Artie G. Gullop and Miss Esther K. O'Keefe; California, Mrs. Annette Adams, who was formerly assistant attorney general; Michigan, Miss Alita M. Wheeler; Minnesota, Mrs. A. K. Gault; Nebraska, Mrs. Irene G. Buell; Missouri, Mrs. L. W. St. Clair-Moss.

Representative Alice Robertson, a candidate for re-election in Oklahoma's entrance; Pennsylvania, Mrs. Ellen D. Davis and Mrs. John D. Davenport; Tennessee, Miss Jennie Burks, and Texas, Mrs. Lucien W. Parrish and Miss Annie Webb. V. Blanton, state superintendent of education.

The two women gubernatorial candidates are Miss Helen Pettengrew, Republican, Kansas and Miss Alice L. Daly, non-partisan, South Dakota.

TO VISIT NEAR EAST

Indianapolis, Ind., June 9.—Mead A. Kelsey, secretary of the Indiana committee of the Near East Relief, will sail from New York June 10 for Armenia where he will spend two months investigating conditions in the Near East. He will be joined in New York by a party of relief workers from that state. From the Moslem capital they will go into the interior of Turkey to visit centers where the relief organization is caring for more than 100,000 orphans.

"The Bearcat" At The Mystic
Coming from the pen of one of today's most popular writers of Western stories, F. R. Buckley, "The Bearcat," the universal attraction starring Hoot Gibson at the Mystic theatre today, will offer a little each of comedy, drama and romantic love interest.

Buckley built his yarn on the three proper story elements with a novel character to start with. The hero isn't a usual sort of chap at all. He goes around singing about how bad a bird he is and how he has to be watched. He rants melodiously of his two-gun activities and tries to convince everyone of his downright meanness.

When a man gets that way there's only one possible answer: a woman, and a bad woman at that.

It's bound to be a bad woman that makes a good man rave about how bad he is.

Of course the fellow impersonated by Hoot Gibson in "The Bearcat" doesn't always suffer under the illusion of his own wickedness. Lillian Rich is the girl, Charles French the sheriff, and Harold Goodwin, William Buckley, Fontaine LaRue, Alfred Hollingsworth, Jim Alamo, Joe Harris and W. J. Allen handle other principal roles. Edward Sedgwick directed from an adaptation by George Hively.

Vaudeville and Pictures today.
Wonderful scenic background, action of tense thrills, moments of heart breaking suspense and a girl of primitive charm are the ingredients of "The Cave Girl" produced by Inspiration Pictures, Inc., and released through the exchanges of Associated First National Pictures, Inc., which is being shown at the Princess today and Saturday.

The title role is being played by Teddie Gerard, an American girl whose name is byword in the stage circles of London and Paris, where she has appeared in a number of successes and where she has been during the last three years. Miss Gerard makes her debut in motion pictures in "The Cave Girl."

Another well known screen actor who appears in this picture is Charles Meredith who has the leading male role. He will be remembered from his parts in Elhel Clayton's pictures. The remainder of the cast includes Willton Taylor, Eleanor Hancock, Lillian Tucker, Frank Coleman, Boris Karloff, Jake Abrahams and John Beck.

In connection with the feature photoplay, there will be two acts of vaudeville today and Saturday, and Round Three of the "Leather Patcher," also will be shown on the screen.

RAIL STRIKE STAR FOR COAL MINERS

National Railroad Crisis Would Stop Non-Union Fuel Production and Make Inroads on Coal Reserve

FORCE WAGE NEGOTIATIONS
Negotiations Covering Central Fields Have Been Goal of Coal Diggers Since Strike April 1

Indianapolis, Ind., June 9 -- The railroad labor crisis was a "star in the east" for 650,000 striking coal miners today.

A nation wide rail strike tying up transportation would stop non-union fuel production and heavy inroads on the depleted coal reserve would follow.

Mine owners then would be forced into wage negotiations with the United Mine Workers either by public sentiment or by the government intervening to protect the people in a coal shortage.

Negotiations covering the central field of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania has been the goal of the coal diggers since they dropped their picks April 1.

"The United Mine Workers stand ready today as they have throughout the strike to meet the operators of the central competitive field," it was said at miner headquarters here.

"But they'll have to come to us if a settlement is to be reached."

Conscious of their economic strength and of the loyalty of the 650,000 idle men, leaders in the mine strike apparently were confident of the outcome. President John L. Lewis conferred occasionally with subordinate officials, but for the most part he was merely awaiting the time when mine owners will enter a conference.

It is understood he considers negotiations covering the anthracite regions definitely halted until a peace move has been made in the bituminous war.

Thousands of letters have been received at miner headquarters from railroad workmen expressing dissatisfaction with the system under which they are hauling non-union coal.

The tone of all the letters was said to indicate the rail men will vote overwhelmingly for a strike in

COMMENTS ON E. B. THOMAS APPOINTMENT

The Hoosier Banker, Published By Indiana Bankers Association Speaks Of His Qualifications

WELL FITTED FOR THE PLACE.

Together with a picture of E. B. Thomas, formerly secretary of the Peoples Loan and Trust company of this city, the Hoosier Banker, published by the Indiana Bankers association, prints the following concerning the appointment of Mr. Thomas as president of the federal land bank of Porto Rico.

Ernest B. Thomas, secretary of the Peoples Loan and Trust Company of Rushville since its organization thirteen years ago, and a personal friend of James E. Watson, has been appointed President of the United States Federal Land Bank to be established at San Juan, Porto Rico.

The appointment was made when an American commission, of which he was a member, made an investigation of conditions on the island last June, and reported back to the farm loan board that the establishment of a federal land bank in Porto Rico would be feasible and that there was a demand of the people for such an institution.

The commission made a long report following the inquiry and recommended that a bank be established because of the need of Porto Rican farmers for capital. As a member of the commission, it was Mr. Thomas's duty to make inquiries and observations regarding the customs of the people and the land titles

While Mr. Thomas's host of friends are sorry to see him leave Indiana, they rejoice at his having been tendered this appointment. Mr. Thomas is eminently qualified to take up his new duties and the Indiana Bankers Association wishes him splendid success.
